

ASPBAE participates in civil society forum in lead up to CONFINTEA 6 Mid-Term Review

Civil Society Forum – EDUCATION 2030: From Commitment to Action

24 October 2017, Suwon City, Korea

ASPBAE President, Nani Zulminari, addressing the civil society forum held in Suwon in the lead up to the CONFINTEA 6 Mid-Term Review.

Kwak Nohyun of the Civil Alliance for Social Transformation Through Education (CIATE), the national education coalition in Korea and an ASPBAE member, stressed that adult education lays the foundation for stronger and fuller democracy that respects the rule of law.

ASPBAE participated in the 'Civil Society Forum on Education 2030: From Commitment to Action' that took place in Suwon City. The event was part of the CONFINTEA 6 Mid Term Review. ASPBAE President, Nani Zulminari, emphasised that this is the moment not only to celebrate the work of civil society in the past but, more importantly, to assess the challenges so we can strategise our work and that with governments.

The CONFINTEA 6 Mid-Term Review (MTR) represents an opportunity to assess the achievements and challenges in securing the rights of young people and adults to lifelong learning and education since 2009, when 144 countries adopted the Belém Framework for Action (BFA) at the last CONFINTEA. Civil society, as an important partner in this process, have gathered for the Civil Society Forum as a preparatory event and an integral part of the CONFINTEA 6 Mid-Term Review Conference.
